Christmas Mini-Musical

This year's Mini-Musical will be about a couple of mice that are living in the time of Jesus' birth and they are witnessing all that is happening upon the earth's surface. There will be a mouse-choir with music that will definitely get your toe tapping if you don't watch out!

One of the challenges we currently are again faced with is the fact that we do not yet have our own building. This means that we don't know which room we'll be in until Sunday Mornings around 08:30 AM. Therefore, our whole Christmas play cannot have a dress-rehearsal and we can't really tell the kids before-hand where exactly they come in & go out, etc. We're really hoping that this year we'll be able to schedule a dress-rehearsal and that we'll know early enough, in which room we'll be doing the mini-musical on December 16th.

Another challenge for us is the language. In order for the play to be performed in two languages, we'll be doing all of it in German with simultaneous English translation on the two big screens behind the stage via Keynote Presentation. In other words, there will be two presentations going onto three large screens simultaneously throughout the musical. One presentation will be the English translation and one will be the back-grounds for the back-ground scenery of the play.

“Die Weihnachtsmäuse” (The Christmas Mice)

The kids will be doing the Christmas Play on stage with the back-ground (displayed on the large screen) behind them.

Teaching at RBTC

In October, both Brent & Gaby were asked to pick an “Old Testament Hero of Faith” to teach on at RHEMA Bible Training Center. Brent chose Joseph and Gaby chose David. This was a fun way to introduce themselves to the new student body and to share from God's word.

In November, both Brent and Gaby taught “Introduction to Childrens Ministry” (as they do every year). This class is 9 hours of jam-packed ideas, resources, and helpful advice for the 2nd year students. This strive for excellence in the area of Childrens Ministry is not typically seen or heard of in European countries. The need to reach this generation is great so we're excited about training future ministers to reach kids here in Europe.

Some of the topics covered in this class include: story telling, object lessons, how to plan and organize major events, scanning, recruiting, training & working with volunteers, delegating, building a team, procedures, decorating, how to teach kids, ages & stages, puppets, flannels, using modern technology, using costumes, skits, games that teach, evangelization tools, basic physical comedy, and the list goes on & on.

It's all part of the vision to:

Save the Lost → Establish the Saved → Train the Established → Send the Trained

The Harris Family

Brent

- Brent has enjoyed taking the trains lately because he's been meeting lots of interesting people and having lots of interesting conversations. You could say he's getting to know the German culture better. It also leaves the car available for Gaby to get groceries, get the kids, etc.

Gaby

- Gaby is now about 7.5 weeks from her due date. She's doing well and so is the baby.
- She will still be teaching English class at Sam's Kindergarden until Christmas. She enjoys the kids a lot. And as one girl said "I could do this every day. It is the enchantment of my heart."

Sam

- Sam recently made his own invention out of sticks and string. He calls it his "Entertation". It kind-of looks like a rocket/telescope/contraption.
- He still loves soccer, hammering on wood in the basement, and wrapping gifts (his toys) for others.

Weihnachtsmarkt (Christmas Market)

Merry Christmas to you from us in Germany!

Joy

- Our Joy is becoming a little lady. She loves to paint, play with Play-doh, & copy whatever her big brother does.
- She will be 3 in March and loves to go to church

Thank You for your support!

We love & appreciate you.
